

Implementing Successful Organizational Change Initiatives

presented by

John Goldberg, MBA

Lecturer | UC Davis Graduate School of Management

Change is a scary, yet ever present, factor in business today.

Often, we ignore change and the impact that change has on our employees and colleagues, hoping that things will work themselves out.

When this 'head-in-the-sand' tactic is employed in an organization, communication, productivity and ultimately trust is destroyed.

In this workshop, you will learning the tools and techniques needed to successfully navigate through the murky and often turbulent waters of change, building the skills needed to move from ignoring to engaging change for the future success of your organization.

Who Should Attend?

This program has been designed for executives, managers and supervisors who are charged with introducing departmental or organizational changes to their employees.

Learning Objectives and Program Benefits
